WELCOME !

By immersing yourself in this unprecedented meeting, you will have the opportunity to network with the most prominent Peruvian and North American entrepreneurs, in addition to meeting and interacting with the most famous Peruvian chefs and restaurant entrepreneurs and thus forge meaningful connections within the business community in the United States. Peru to the World Expo is the most important International Fair of Peru abroad, the central event of Peruvian cultural and commercial promotion efforts in the United States that brings together nearly 50 chefs and many brands. This fair aimed at Peruvian and the foreign public - held every year in the cities of New York and Houston at the best level, Peru to the World Expo, has been developed for 13 years in a sustained manner, and is considered a business platform, where Peru shows its rich cultural diversity of Peru, through its gastronomic tourist attractions of the regions; as well as showing its food products to distribution companies interested in knowing and purchasing these products.

Expand your knowledge of incoming tourism in Peru through the culinary expressions of its Peruvian chefs who meet every year to show their regional cuisine, new techniques and obtain valuable knowledge about the fascinating world of Peruvian cuisine considered one of the most important in the world. Our expo also offers an important showcase to exhibit brands from financial corporations, crafts, textile design and Peruvian jewelry.

We are excited and proud to introduce you to our "13° Peru to the World Expo New York" that will take place on Sunday, October 6th, in the heart of Long Island, New York. This exclusive coastal region, known for its famous beaches, celebrities homes, and impressive estates and vineyards along the Atlantic Ocean, sets the perfect stage to showcase the wonders that Peru has to offer.

ABOUT OUR GREAT EVENT

Board of Directors

THE EAST HAMPTON STAR

Hispanic Parade and Peruvian Food Expo Come to East Hampton

The first Hamptons Hispanic Parade on Saturday at 11 a.m., organized by the nonprofit Peru to the World Expo Foundation, will kick off a daylong celebration of Peruvian culture and food that will culminate with a culinary extravaganza at Herrick Park from 2 to 7 p.m.

Participants will begin lining up at the Presbyterian Church between 9:30 and 10:30. The parade will end at Herrick Park on Newtown Lane, where a free family festival from noon to 2 p.m. will include inflatables, games and activities for kids, and food trucks.

Tickets to the Peru to the World Expo, the culinary event that follows, cost $150 and are available online at bit.ly/45VUrbe. This is the fourth year the expo has been held in East Hampton; previously it was at the Baker House 1650.

Some 40 chefs and caterers will offer tastes of their specialties throughout the afternoon. The organizers have invited people to “witness the fusion of tradition and innovation as master chefs, restaurateurs, and importers showcase the exquisite flavors of Peru.” These include culinary traditions that blend Peruvian and Japanese influences, Peruvian and Chinese influences, and the country’s own diverse regional cuisines.

Flavio Solorzano, a well-known Peruvian chef, will lead a master class on cooking lomo saltado, a traditional dish. Also on hand will be other ambassadors of the country’s cuisine, including Juan Chipoco, a South Florida restaurateur, and Michael Ciuffardi, a Peruvian chef who helms the Inca Social kitchens in northern Virginia.

The ticketed event is open only to those 18 or over.

The 10th annual Peru to the World Expo at The Baker House 1650

The Village of East Hampton is once again breaking ground in the celebration of the area’s diverse community. One year after the village came alongside Hamptons Pride Inc. to host the East End’s first LGBTQ+ Pride Month parade in 2022, East Hampton will host the first-ever Hamptons Hispanic Parade, an exciting expansion to the annual Peru to the World Expo.

Scheduled for Saturday, September 9, the 12th iteration of the Peru to the World Expo Foundation’s event has evolved considerably since it was founded. Established in 2012 to promote the knowledge, preparation and consumption of traditional Peruvian dishes in the U.S., the 2023 PTWE will celebrate a wider breadth of Latin-American cultures and cuisines.

“This is the first time we’ve showcased our Hispanic pride with representation from Peru, Puerto Rico, the Dominican Republic, Mexico, Columbia, El Salvador, Ecuador, Bolivia and Venezuela,” says Melvi Dávila, executive director of the PTWE. “It’s beautiful to get together, join efforts and express our rich diversity ... because when we join efforts, that’s when we’re the strongest.”

Dávila introduced the Peru to the World Expo to the Hamptons through The Baker House 1650 in East Hampton, where it was held until 2022. At last year’s event, she was approached by Sandra Meléndez, the village’s first Latina board trustee/commissioner, who suggested moving the event to Herrick Park to allow new opportunities for expansion and increased visibility.

“This is the first time that we have the space (for a parade), thanks to Sandra Meléndez,” Dávila says. “The Hamptons Hispanic Parade is a collective effort between the Peru to the World Expo Foundation and the East Hampton Village Foundation.”

With the inaugural Hamptons Hispanic Parade coming one week before the beginning of Hispanic Heritage Month on September 15, she adds, “This is a historic event.”

The PTWE kicks off on September 9 with the parade at 11 a.m. stepping off from the First Presbyterian Church of East Hampton at 120 Main Street and proceeding toward Herrick Park. The carriage assembly time and VIP gathering time are 9:30 a.m. and 10:30 a.m., respectively, so it would be wise for attendees to find parking before then.

Along the one-mile route, 200–300 parade participants will march or ride cars and floats through the streets, spreading a sense of Latin-American pride and community. Each country’s representation will march with its own band and grand marshal, waving flags that represent their nation’s cultural heritage. The inaugural grand marshals include renowned chef/restaurateur Juan Chipoco, Peruvian entrepreneur Gabriela Berrospi, Ecuadorian entrepreneur Clever Lopez, Hamptons editor/writer Veronica Chumbi and Salvadoran leader Tony Villalobos.

“We welcome the notable Hispanic community in the area, who will undoubtedly make their presence felt on this occasion,” states Meléndez.

A Family Fair begins at noon with kids activities and goods from local providers. The fair runs until 3 p.m. and is free to the public.

Herrick Park opens its gates for the 12th annual Peru to the World Expo at 1:45 p.m., and seats are first come, first served to all general admission ticketholders. The main event officially begins at 2 p.m. with a Grand Culinary Tasting and Drinks, which features more than 40 chefs cooking up authentic Latin cuisine that gets paired with cocktail made with Pisco, the national drink of Peru.
